This late nineteenth-century two-story framed and gable-roofed structure faces west onto Maryland Route 765. It has a five-bay facade, one interior ridgeline chimney and one interior gable-end chimney. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles. The original weatherboarding has been replaced with asbestos shingles. The windows are glazed with six-over-six double-hung sash. The first-floor facade of this building has been entirely reworked. Central double doors are flanked by large commercial plate-glass windows. There is also an entrance to the second story set at the northwest corner of the facade.
